When I began working here, the average number of military personnel assigned to the Commander and the post Sergeant Major. Currently, the only permanently assigned active duty military on the depot is lere are approximately seven reservists on extended active duty assigned here as instructors, but they only got here seven he reservists are not accompanied by their families. on this depot consist of a bowling alley with a snack bar, a lodging facility with meeting and dining facilities, a Laundromat, lilian employees, a facility to sign out items such as water craft, ATVs, etc, a swimming pool, and a children and youth re is no PX or Commissary. eer, I always thought MWR facilities were foremost for the Army soldiers in CONUS and for soldiers and DACs in half I have seen here, the local population from off post uses the majority of the MWR facilities and in many cases have no he Army. This applies to the bowling alley, the swimming pool, the Laundromat, and the children and youth service center. is legal, but I still cannot understand how it can be. I remember while on active duty, my ID card was always asked for acilities; this meant that to use the facility, you either had to be connected to the Army in some way or you were a guest of vivilian. much money MWR here at the depot receives, but in my opinion, and this is my opinion only, I would rather see the depot Army posts with a large population of soldiers and family members. To just send money to posts that have no significant el seems to me a gross waste. urrent high level of deployments, the money could be used much better at posts such as Fort Bragg, Fort Campbell, or Fort urrent high level of deployments, the money could be used much better at posts such as Fort Bragg, Fort Campbell, or Fort |

| ACS Concerns | Base reduction has limited services and there is no longer any military personnel stationed a location. | at this |
| Overall Comm | t | |

I was assigned to Sierra Army Depot from November 1986 until my PCS to Korea in October 1991. While I was at the depot there were limited services available to the 300 to 400 military personnel and 2,000 civilians assigned or working at the depot. However, the one bright spot was the MWR program and its employees and volunteers. The depot is in a very isolated part of Northern California and the closest city of any size is Reno, Nevada which is about 60 miles away. The facilities at the depot were extremely important for the single soldiers and families who resided in quarters at the depot. The depot was identified for BRAC and its primary mission was eliminated. When that mission was eliminated the main military unit was no longer needed to provide its military mission. I believe it was 1994 when the last of the military departed the depot and the housing areas were turned over to the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The rural area of the depot does have retired military close by but I am not one of them. I retired in Reno, Nevada and it with the PX closed and the commissary reduced to almost a 7-11 type operation it is just not worth making the trip out there. I know funds are tight everywhere but the Army MWR and ACS programs are definitely worthy of continuing funding for our present and future soldiers.

| have any facilities a | he military. I wish I had facilities available to me, but the closest military installation is Herlong Army Depot and it does not vailable to me. I used to use the commissary when it was open but it has since closed. I did enjoy the visits that I did when the post was active. I wish that there were other activities available to the retired people in the Reno Area. |

| last assignment ther | Sierra Army Depot was closed. My last visit there was in 1986 just after retirement to get family medical records from my e. I would however be very interested to learn/receive information concerning services for retired members available at a possible. The drive would be fun 52 miles or not. Please send any and all information to the following NEW address 15720 (89506). Thank you |
